The demand for discounts was more active to-day, and the market was closer than it has been at any time this Fail. Some of the banks were obliged to refuse many applications for loans on thirty and sixty day paper. The feeling is quite stringent, and the opinion prevails that no relief can be obtained until the dobris of the recent wreck in New York has been entirely cleared. Exchange was scarce and firmer. Early sales were made at eighty cents discount, but later in the day there were no drawers below par, and even at that figure the offerings were light. The counter rates are unchanged—1-10 discount buying and par selling.
